- Professor Sandvik is one of the most driven and passionate professors I have taken at Tulane. I would send questions via email and have responses within minutes explaining in detail the solution and explanation! I loved the aspect of the interviews we were able to watch which allowed be to choose Credit and Wholesale banking as my finance path. Overall, I would highly recommend Professor Sandvik to any of my peers who have not taken FINE 3010. (I also loved the quizzes and self learning videos which allows the students to have more flexibility) The only thing I would like to see a change in is the testing format (even though I understand this might be standard by department). I would love to see more opportunities for credit on longer word problems such as the full scale problem where a student might understand the process, however, receive no credit because of a small change in numbers or a change in steps. Thanks so much for a great semester!!
- Professor Sandvik is probably the best professor I have had at Tulane. He is thoughtful, organized, knowledgeable, and very accommodating. I would highly recommend Professor Sandvik to anyone taking Financial Management.
- Even though I struggled sometimes, Professor Sandvik made the class much less stressful through reminding us about deadlines and reviewing in the week before the test.
- Prof. Sandvik gave us so many outlets to learn the information ourselves. The weekly videos and quizzes were super informative, thank you for going above and beyond to help us learn/understand the material!!
- Professor did a great job of making it easy to learn from home or if you missed time by posting short class video summaries
- I thought that you did a great job with teaching this course- all things considered. Do not remove the lecture videos but my advice- some of my friends watch the lecture videos a day before the test, and cram. Then they do poorly on the test and ask why I have been doing well. My one piece of advice is you need to leverage the videos as if you are actually going through who did them or not. You will find that more people will understand the content more and perform better. Also I would set aside one class just to go through the financial calculator more thoroughly. It was a huge help once i got the hang of it, but it did take some time for me to figure it out.
- Professor Sandvik is a really good teacher as long as you do what he tells you to he will make sure you are prepared for the test, he's a really good teacher.
- I intently watched all the videos before class time and sometimes felt that the in-class instruction the day after was just a repeat of the video so it was sometimes boring when the content was easy to understand. Overall I really like how the course is structured with the videos before class though. I think class would be more helpful if more time was spent on practice problems instead of repeating what was in the videos. The days when we did practice problems were the most productive for me. I would recommend Professor Sandvik to anyone taking this class because I really like how he structures the class with videos and quizzes to test your knowledge of the content along the way. The module quizzes helped me find what I needed to study more for the exams.
- I felt like the test questions were much harder and took longer than any of the examples from practice tests and or class examples.
- Really amazing professor! He clearly cares about his job and really wants us to learn. Provides a lot of relevant material for homework and to study from. He is really good with technology and always makes sure that zoom is working properly. He is always prepared for class and super organized. I really loved taking this class with Professor Sandvik!
- Using the lecture slides and white board to do practice problems was very helpful to see. The prerecorded video lectures I felt were very useful but class felt like we were just rewatching the video because it was the same slides presented in the same ways. The most helpful class periods were the practices days where we were able to do a lot of problems and see how they were worked out together.
- Less technological problems then I have had in other classes.
- I thought Professor Sandvik was a great instructor and I really liked the format of the class. I thought all the tests and quizzes were very fair and related directly to what we learned in class.
- I think the course was designed really well given the circumstances. I thought having video modules as a pre-lecture and review were very helpful in having me retain the material. I also thought the presentation of the material was fairly easy to follow and interesting even though at time the concepts can be dry. Some things I might change is more practice. I think that sometimes some extra practice problems could help reinforce the concepts.
- I loveeee this class. Professor Sandvik ensures that students master the material given by providing prelecture videos, effective lectures during class, and quizzes that help students to review the information. Greatly enjoyed this class
- Very fair course. A lot of grades in canvas which was nice. I liked how after the first midterm, Professor Sandvik was very responsive in changing the second one that would benefit the students since timing was a huge problem on the first exam
- I really enjoyed this course. I learned a lot and it has made me want to declare a major in Finance. I think Professor Sandvik taught the information really well and the tests and quizzes were very fair. I do not think anything was lost via technological instruction and I believe I gained the same experience via zoom.
- good course, taught well given the circumstances of everything going on. You gave a lot of resources which i liked and it was nice to have all of those available
- Prof. Sandvik did a great job of being flexible with the COVID situation and used Zoom extremely effectively.
- This class helped me learn a lot about basic financial management concepts that I know will be useful in my future career. Professor Sandvik was very clear and thorough in teaching us the material and always helped when needed.
- Very good teacher, very good at explaining things. Makes time for students and wants them to do well.
- Overall Great Course! I loved Professor Sandvik.
- I loved the format of Professor Sandvik's class. Our weekly homework would be to watch through a 15 - 20 minute lecture video covering what would be gone over in class the next day. I felt this was a great way to keep myself on pace with the class material and not feel overwhelmed. I also liked that there was a mini-quiz at the end of each module to ensure I have a solid understanding of the material. Professor Sandvik is just a really genuine professor and great teacher. He always welcomes questions and answers them thoroughly and in a way that a finance beginner can understand. He never wants to trick his students, and he even spends a few class periods watching interviews with professionals in the financial field to give us a sense of the potential career paths Finance majors can pursue. While I personally find Finance to be a rather boring subject, Professor Sandvik did a great job at keeping me engaged throughout the semester and motivated to work hard and learn to the best of my abilities. I would absolutely recommend Professor Sandvik to any business student looking to take Financial Management.
- Professor Sandvik goes at the perfect pace for students who have little or no experience in the finance world. He explains every step in depth and is very helpful with showing how he runs through every question. I cannot recommend him enough for this course.
- I have never loved a course more. I am a finance major and taking the introductory course could not have been more informative. Professor Sandvik is an amazing professor. I will be confused about a problem and he gives the time and energy to make sure every student understands each and every step for every type of problem. He also makes himself available for students at all times and you can tell he truly cares about he students. In addition besides learning finance, Professor Sandvik has videos of him interviewing different people in the financial world and the type of work they do and how it relates to what we are learning in class. The ability to relate what I am learning to real life jobs is super helpful for figuring out my future. I could not be more grateful to have Professor Sandvik as my introduction to finance as a finance major as he is one of the greatest, most understanding, and kind teachers I have had a Tulane.
- Professor Sandvik was very organized and clear.
- Professor Sandvik's class was organized very well and he did a great job of explaining the material. I think having tests be online made them more difficult, but that is not the professor's fault.
- Professor Sandvik does a great job of teaching the material
- I don't feel like there was any need to shorten the exams, as professor Sandvik kept saying. I feel like doubling the questions would've given me a better opportunity to accurately reflect my knowledge of the material. I don't see why it had to be restricted to an hour, but even for an hour, 12 questions is kind of sparse.
- Professor Sandvik was the best professor I have had in the business school. I wish he had been my high school pre-calc teacher. Professor Sandvik's organization and communication is stellar. Any student who wanted to succeed in this course was capable of it, not because of a lack of complex content, but because of the numerous ways to learn the content and amount of practice with it and the numerous, clear ways Professor Sandvik would explain each concept.

- This was my favorite class this semester. Professor Sandvik really cares about his students, is accessible through email, and works hard to provide resources to supplement instruction. Due dates and expectations were clearly stated. The course moved at the perfect pace. Also a very understanding teacher who wants his students to do well.
- I feel like he did a much better job than other professors really making sure all of the people on zoom understood what was going on.
- Jason is the bomb.
- Overall, I really enjoyed your class and how you formatted it and used Zoom. Particularly, I thought you did a great job explaining concepts and I liked how we had ample review days in class for the midterms and the final. These were incredibly helpful. One suggestion is since we watch videos before class, for some of the videos that cover less complicated topics, we could do practice problems rather going over the video.
- Thank you for being flexible.
- Was very engaging and informative
- Professor Sandvik was a great professor. He was super understanding and wanted all of his students to succeed. He was really good at explaining the concepts and had many resources for students to access the material. All of the practice exams and zoom recordings were super useful. I am really glad I chose my section.
- I have to say that Professor Sandvik has been hands down the best, most caring, and dedicated professor I have had thus far in the business school. Professor Sandvik, firstly, was an unbelievable teacher, as I originally struggled with the concepts, however through his teaching and patience I feel confident in the material taught in the course. More importantly, Professor Sandvik truly cares about his students and their success more than any Professor I have ever come across besides maybe Professor Tim West (Accounting). He is just a wonderful human being as he is a professor, as well, and could not be more accommodating towards his students. I would highly recommend Professor Sandvik for anyone looking to taking a FINE 3010 course. Furthermore, I wish Professor Sandvik could be teaching the higher level Finance courses, as I am going to miss having him as a professor and his strong ability to connect with his students.
- I really enjoyed Professor Sandvik because he was always enthusiastic about teaching Finance and was open to answering any questions we had. I thought his class was very fair and I would love to take another class with Professor Sandvik.
- I enjoyed Professor Sandvik's class. I believed he was a really effective teacher. My only complaint would be on a couple of assignments like quizzes or the first midterm where there would be some questions that just did not seem that familiar. The second midterm and the later quizzes used a lot of questions that were more similar to the ones he did examples of in class which helped us learn the material better and helped us prepare better for the exams.
- I learned a lot though the course, but I do not think that the tests reflected my knowledge in the course. I think that the instructor could have made the exams more reflective of the class material.
